Admissions Website Audit: 21 International and Boarding Schools

Audit conducted June 2026

Of the 19 schools assessed, none shows both its full fees and its admission deadlines. Only 3 of 19 (16%) state deadlines, and 10 of 19 (53%) show no fees or only partial fees. Enquiry forms and phone numbers are common (15 of 19 each), but 6 schools have no enquiry form or one that is hard to find, and 6 show other contact friction.

The average school has 3 of 6 basics in place, and the best has 5.

Method

I picked 21 international and boarding schools in India from a Google search and reviewed each website manually in June 2026. Every school was scored on the same features: fee disclosure (full, partial or none), admission guide quality (1 to 5 stars, where 5 is a clear guide that is easy to follow), deadlines, enquiry form, phone number and WhatsApp support, with written notes on friction.

Two schools are left out of every percentage: Indus International School (site unreachable) and Woodstock School (admissions closed, so fees, guide and deadlines could not be assessed). That leaves 19 schools.

A core score from 0 to 6 gives one point each for full fees, a clear guide (4 or 5 stars), deadlines, an enquiry form, a phone number and WhatsApp. Friction themes in the notes were tagged into six categories; the tagging is a judgement call and is listed school by school in the workbook.

Findings

School_Admissions_Audit.xlsx, Summary sheet · 19 assessed schools

No school gives parents both the fees and the deadlines

The 9 schools that fully publish fees all leave out deadlines, and the 3 that state deadlines (DAIS, TISB, BIS Bombay) all hide fees. Even those three are incomplete: DAIS gives dates for only Preschool, Grade 8 and Grade 11, and TISB keeps them on its FAQs page instead of "How to Apply". A further 7 schools, more than a third, show neither full fees nor deadlines.

Contact options exist at most schools but are often hard to use

15 of 19 schools (79%) have an enquiry form and 15 of 19 (79%) list a phone number, but only 6 offer WhatsApp. At 6 schools the enquiry form is missing or hard to find, and at 6 the contact channel has a gap or friction, such as email-only contact.

A good admission guide does not guarantee open pricing

Of the 9 schools whose guide scored 4 or 5 stars, only 3 show full fees, and both 5-star schools (DAIS and TISB) leave fees out. By contrast, all 6 three-star schools show fees, and none of the 4 weakest guides do.

Most schools have only some of the basics in place

The average school meets 3 of the 6 checks, and 12 of 19 meet three or fewer. One school scores 5 and none scores all 6.

The audit notes also record friction in how information is presented

Six themes each appear at 6 or 7 of the 19 schools: admission FAQs that are missing or not about admissions (7), eligibility criteria that are missing or buried (7), a vague admission process (6), an enquiry form that is missing or hard to find (6), contact-channel gaps (6), and confusing navigation or content placement (6).

Friction patterns

Six themes recur in the notes, each affecting 6 to 7 of the 19 schools.

| Theme | Schools | Examples |
|---|---|---|
| FAQ missing or not admission-specific | 7 | DAIS, CIS, Oakridge, SIS, DPS |
| Eligibility missing or buried | 7 | Oakridge, SIS, Stonehill, MIT Vishwashanti Gurukul |
| Process vague or incomplete | 6 | Oakridge, SIS, Stonehill, AES |
| Enquiry form missing or hard to find | 6 | Hebron, DPS, Mahindra, AES (buried) |
| Contact channel gap or friction | 6 | BIS Bombay (email only), AES (sign-up needed), Mahindra |
| Navigation or content placement | 6 | DAIS, TISB (deadlines on FAQs page), Ecole Globale |

Two schools were mapped in depth. At AES, a parent with a quick question must click "Apply Now" because the softer "Contact" route is hidden. At Ecole Globale, the form sits at the bottom of a long procedure page.

What works well

- Good Shepherd International School (GSIS) has the highest tally, 5 of 6: full fees, a clear guide (4 stars), an enquiry form, a phone number and WhatsApp. Deadlines are the only one of the six checks it misses.
- DAIS and TISB have the only 5-star guides, and with BIS Bombay they are the three schools that state deadlines. Both also have an enquiry form and a phone number.

Recommendations

Ranked by how many schools have the gap and how directly it blocks a parent's decision.

| Priority | Action | Evidence | Effort |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | Publish deadlines on the "How to Apply" page | 16 of 19 schools (84%) do not state them clearly | Low |
| 2 | Publish a fee schedule, or at least a range | 10 of 19 (53%) show none or only part | Low to medium |
| 3 | Make the enquiry form easy to find and open, with no sign-up needed | 6 of 19 have no form or a hidden one | Low |
| 4 | Add an admission-specific FAQ | 7 of 19 lack one or have FAQs that skip admissions | Low |
| 5 | State eligibility criteria near the top of the admissions page | 7 of 19 omit or bury them | Low |
| 6 | Add WhatsApp or chat beside the phone number | 13 of 19 (68%) offer no WhatsApp | Medium |

Limitations

- Exploratory audit of 21 schools found through Google, reviewed by one person. It describes these websites, not Indian international schools in general.
- Fee disclosure counts only complete fee structures as "full"; one school with partial fees is counted separately.
